Things to Come

At this point in time construction on the project site has come to a close for the year. However, there are still tasks left to complete by the contractor that are minor in nature. Periodically you may see Hardrives Inc. or one of the subcontractors on site completing final tasks before the project can be completely closed out.

As a result of project activities coming to a close, this will be the final project update letter for the season. In spring 2016, the sod and seeding will be checked to ensure proper turf establishment. Any areas found to be deficient will be corrected before the project is officially closed out. Depending on the items needed to be corrected and their impact to you, the residents, a project update letter will be sent out to inform you of when construction personnel will be on site.

Thanks to You

A special thank you is deserved to all the residents on this project. Living on a construction site can prove tiresome as access to your home and everyday tasks are often negatively affected. Your patience and understanding through all the phone calls and emails has been greatly appreciated.

Additionally, thank you to all the parents and care givers to the children in the area who were kept safe without incident during construction. Having bus stops rerouted and often times no clear path to homes is an obvious headache to those caring for children and getting through a project safely is a big accomplishment itself.

Over the coming months, please do not hesitate to contact your respective project site inspector with any questions or concerns should they arise.
